ABOUT

I started my career ensuring software works flawlessly — now I build systems that think for themselves. With a strong foundation in automation and software reliability, I transitioned into the AI space and never looked back. Today, I design and build SaaS and PaaS solutions powered by AI, helping clients solve unique problems with speed, scalability, and intelligence. I bring a "nothing is impossible to build" mindset to every project — whether it's integrating LLMs into existing workflows, automating decision-making systems, or creating cloud-native applications that just work smarter.
